PREFERRED DROWNING TO BEING SEARCHED

Chicago Youth Accused of Picking Pockets Dives From Side of Incoming Steamer.

Milwaukee, Aug. 4.—Accused of picking the pocket of Albert Whitney, Cyrus Taylor, who is said to be the son of a well known Milwaukee road officer in Chicago, leaped overboard from the steamer "Indiana" as it was nearing Milwaukee at four o'clock this morning and swam for the shore, nearly a mile away. Taylor was suspected and when the captain informed him that he would have to be searched, Taylor turned and said: "Not yet. Goodbye." It is not known whether he reached the shore.

BURGLARS LOOT TWO BUSINESS PLACES

Racing Visited By Thieves Who Clean Out An Establishment During Night.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 4.—Early today burglars looted the John Dixon hardware and sporting goods store directly across the street from the Central police station. They carried away every revolver in the store, knives, razors, shot guns and policeman's bibles valued at $700. They took most of the goods out of the show window, facing Main street and in plain view of the police office. They took a suitcase out of the window and packed the case with the goods. Before looting the hardware store they entered the office of Alderman Peter Ritter where they smashed open a desk and broke the cash register to pieces, but missed about one hundred dollars in cash that was put away behind the cash register. All that was missing was two bottles of whisky.

REVENUE CUTTER SERVICE IS 120 YEARS OLD TODAY

Officers and Crews in Service Through-out World Observe Anniversary.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—All over the world today, wherever they may be, the officers and crews of the vessels of the United States revenue cutter service will formally celebrate the 120th anniversary of the establishment of the service. The character of the anniversary celebration is substantially the same on all of the vessels. The ships are "all dressed" from deck to topmast and the officers and crews, in full uniform, are mustered on the main deck while the executive officer reads a brief history of the revenue cutter service.

The friends of Senator Gore, on the other hand, assert that he is perfectly sincere in his action and that he will be able to make good on his charges relative to the McMurray contracts. They cite the facts that the Indian Rights Association, and the Catholic Indian Mission, have both openly fought the contracts, and they cite further the fact that Senator Gore last April secured passage of his resolution calling upon President Taft and Secretary Bullinger for all the correspondence between them and J. P. McMurray; also the correspondence following the President's disapproval of the contracts two years ago. The action of Chief McMartin of the Choctaw last July in opposing the McMurray contracts because they would not set the lawyers several million dollars, is also given as proof in Senator Gore's favor, and the statement of United States Senator Owen of Oklahoma that "if the cowhands brought only $5,000,000, McMurray could sit at home and draw his commission." It is shown also that the entire Oklahoma delegation in congress has been consistent in its fight against the McMurray contracts.

A Satisfying Food.

Appetite is Nature's signal for fuel and repairs.

Healthy appetite calls for the simple food elements that supply the natural requirements.

Healthy appetite is satisfied when the proper kind and amount of food is taken into the body at stated intervals. But the vices of the modern chef and eaters have created in most of us a false and often unnatural appetite which leads into all the different degrees of indigestion, dyspepsia, etc.—food insanity.

Grape-Nuts

is a satisfying food—it is composed of the natural elements to satisfy the natural appetite and restore order in the digestive machinery which may have been thrown out of gear by improper though often "fashionable" foods.

The crisp, firm, "nutty" granules of Grape-Nuts make honest mastication necessary. Its wholesome flavor makes it appetizing, and the albumens, carbohydrates and Potassium Phosphate from the whole wheat and barley, makes it a satisfying food—both to the sense of taste and to the body needs.

Ten days' trial will convince any one that "There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts.

VALUABLE PROPERTY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Loss on the William J. Lathers Farm in Town of Turtle Will Probably Reach Six Thousand Dollars.

Fire which broke out in the top of a big hay barn on the William J. Lathers farm in the town of Turtle Hill, recently destroyed in the neighborhood of six thousand dollars' worth of farm property including buildings, forty-seven hogs, ten stacks of grain, some fifty tons of hay, farm machinery and wagons. All the horses and cattle were in the fields at the time of the fire except one horse which was led from the barn without any serious trouble.

Just how the fire originated is a mystery. It broke out in the extreme top of the west end of the big hay barn and was first seen by Mrs. Lathers. A half minute later the whole structure was in flames. Spontaneous combustion is one theory advanced but the hay had been in the barn for nearly two weeks and makes this doubtful. Incendiarism has been spoken of but neither Mr. Lathers or his wife would substantiate this theory.

Neighbors rallied to the Lathers farm as soon as the alarm was sent over the telephone but they could do nothing to save the property as they only had a bucket brigade to fight the incendiary flames. The house which is valued at five thousand dollars was to the windward of the fire and was not in danger. The sparks from the burning barn set fire to the ten stacks of rye and barley in the adjoining field which were waiting to be threshed.

The Lathers farm comprises 785 acres of choice farm land and the yield of grain this year was exceptionally large so the loss on the crop will be heavy. There was also considerable oats in the barn which was destroyed as well as a wagon-load of threshed rye which had been hauled in when the rain in the morning started.

On the opposite side of the road there was a large stack of rye and barley waiting to be threshed with the engine and threshing machine. Fortunately the wind was blowing away from this and none of the sparks went that way or the loss would have been much heavier. Mr. Lathers was in Janesville when the fire started and reached home only to find the property in ruins.

The flames could be seen for many miles and attracted a large crowd to the farm. The fire was first seen shortly after seven and within a few minutes the entire structure was a mass of flames and the adjoining grain stacks on fire. There was a partial insurance on the property.

SEVERELY INJURED AT THE SAND PIT

William Manz Breaks His Leg While Working With the Conveyor.

William Manz, an employee of the Janesville Sand and Gravel company, who resides at 416 South Franklin street, was injured yesterday afternoon about half past four at the sand pit of the company near the Sugar Loaf factory when he was caught under a heavy wooden conveyor frame and his left leg broken below the knee. Manz was taken to the hospital and the fracture reduced. The mother of two of the family who are confined to the hospital at the present time, as William Manz's brother, Adolph Manz, has been undergoing treatment there for the past two weeks for a severe attack of blood poisoning in his left arm. Both brothers are reported to be doing well today.

SAFE WAS WRECKED BUT NOTHING TAKEN

Schaller and McKey's Offices Visited by Thieves or Hobos During the Night.

For the fourth time within the past few months, Schaller and McKey's office safe was wrecked last night by robbers who entered the company's office and shattered the knob but were frightened away before they could drop the bars and open the safe. Entrance to the building was secured by forcing in the door which was but slightly fastened. Nothing of value was taken and beyond wrecking the strong box, no damage was done. It is thought that the job was done by the railroad yards this office seems to be the first choice of every would-be yeggman who drops from a freight train to make a short visit in this city. Perhaps after a few more attempts have been made, it will become known that no valuables are kept there and the robbers will desist from wasting their energy.

NO STREET PARADE.

The Wild West and Far East Will Not Give a Street Pageant When the Exhibition Visits This City.

For many reasons the management of Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East as decided to abandon the street parade which has been the usual thing with traveling organizations of this size and character. It is set forth in many instances the late arrival of the trains bearing the paraphernalia makes it impossible to give a parade and start the afternoon performances on time. Through these delays the public is compelled to exert themselves in preparing for the performance goes on.

Again it is considered an unnecessary hardship to compel men and horses to parade for two hours before beginning the afternoon exhibition, especially when it is considered that two shows every day are the rule with this exhibition. By doing away with the street pageant men and horses are fresh for their performance and it would soon that the public is entitled to a perfect performance, which it pays for, rather than to a free street parade which gives, but a poor idea of the magnitude of the exhibition. Another reason which has solved the influence the decision is the fact that merchants in the cities visited object to parades because they interrupt business and interfere with general traffic. So strenuous is this objection that in many cities it is a point to parade cannot be secured, and in other places the demand is set at such an exorbitant rate that it practically prohibits street pageants. The public is reminded, however, that in moving the properties and paraphernalia of the exhibition from the railroad to the grounds will, in itself, constitute a parade of greater interest and vastly more novel than any other organization can offer. The Indians and roughriders will ride their horses to the grounds and the sight will be an ample reward for the elimination of the huckeey parade, or other days. incidentally it may be mentioned that when weather permits Col. Cody will take a drive through the principal streets to convince the public that the old scout is still able to be in the harness, while wholly deciding to be so remembered as he gracefully retires, personally, from public life in the saddle.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—At the expense of a well-dressed hat, Orme saves from arrest a girl in a Clark street car on Main street. He caused a traffic jam on Main street. He buys a new hat and is given in charge a five dollar bill with "Remember person you pay this to," written on it. A few hours he helps the girl in the bank. The girl is the daughter of Senator Wellington and is the daughter of Senator Wellington. She has many friends, but gets no further hint of her identity. In his room at the Park Marquette he telephones Senator Wellington and agrees to go to him at 10 o'clock in the morning. He makes another inquiry about the five dollar bill, which, in a futile attempt to decipher it, he copies and places the copy in a drawer.

CHAPTER II.—Senator Portor, South American, calls, and claims the marked bill. Orme refuses to give it up. Senator Portor, who is the son of Senator Wellington, is a gambler, and calls him "Son of Alcantara," minister from his country, to voice for him. Alcantara tries diplomacy to get the bill. Orme is suspicious and dismisses them with a promise to leave the bill unclaimed. Senator Portor leaves. The other night tells Orme that a Japanese has called for him, but gone away without leaving name or message.

CHAPTER III.—Orme goes for an evening walk and in Lincoln park rescues Alcantara from two Japanese assassins. Alcantara is the son of Senator Wellington, who also is not the secret of the papers, but he promises to help her. He calls her "Girl." Orme gets his copy of the inscription. The girl deciphers it. They start out in the black touring car in quest of the missing papers.

CHAPTER IV.—In the Park Marquette room, while he finds the girl of the papers, Orme tells his story. But the papers are not the secret of the papers, but he promises to help her. He calls her "Girl." Orme gets his copy of the inscription. The girl deciphers it. They start out in the black touring car in quest of the missing papers.

CHAPTER V.—In the university building place, Alcantara and another Jap are there. Orme sees Nishi with a wrench, but the other escapes in the darkness with the papers. Orme, thinking in his pocket, the papers are of value, makes a request he takes her, and the car to the home of his friend in Evanston. She is still just "Girl."

CHAPTER VI.—Orme goes back to the university grounds and finds out from Portor, on the boat, that the papers are in the car. They are inside. They bear a motor boat out on the lake and Orme suggests that Nishi's assailant is escaping that way. Suddenly stopping of the boat's exhaust indicates a break-down. Orme and Portor get in another boat and find the crippled one. In it are the Jap with the papers and "Girl."

CHAPTER VII.—The two boats close in. "Girl" jumps into Orme's boat. The Jap finds Orme out, and, thinking that the girl has got out, jumps into the water. The conductor nodded toward Maku. "What about him?"

"He was put aboard by a cop. Looks as though somebody had slugged him."

"That's so," commented Orme. "His head is bandaged."

"Judging from the bandage, it must have been a nasty crack," continued the conductor. "But you wouldn't know he'd been hurt from his face. You can't tell anything about those Johns from their looks, can you, now?"

"You certainly can't," replied Orme.

The conductor glanced out. "There's the elevated," he said. "I'll have to go in and wake that drunk. He gets off here."

Orme watched the conductor go to the man who was sleeping in the corner and shake him. The man nodded his head vaguely, and settled back into slumber. Through the open door came the conductor's voice: "Wake up!"—Shake—"You get off here!"—Shake—"Wake up, there!" but the man would not awaken.

Maku was sitting but a few feet from the sleeping man. He had not appeared to notice what was going on, but now, just as the conductor seemed about to appeal to the motorman for help, the little Japanese slid along the seat and said to the conductor: "I wake him."

The conductor stared, and scratched his head. "If you can," he remarked, "it's more'n I can do."

Maku did not answer, but putting his hand behind the sleeping man's back, found some sensitive vertebra. With a yell, the man awoke and leaped to his feet. The conductor seized him by the arm, and led him to the platform.

The car was already slowing down, but without waiting for it to stop, the conductor leaped himself into the night.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS INDORSED

IOWA REPUBLICANS HAVE WARM TIME IN STATE CON-VENTION.

SUPREME JUDGES ARE NAMED

Session is Marked by Hisses and Cat-
Calls—Senator Cummins Ignores
President in His Address—Dolliver
Elected Permanent Chairman.

Iowa Moines, Ia., Aug. 4.—The Iowa state Republican convention adjourned after a day of bitter controversy between the progressive and stalwart factions. Candidates for supreme judges and superintendent of public instruction were nominated and a platform was adopted. Senator Cummins was the temporary chairman and Senator Dolliver the permanent presiding officer. Both were cheered and blessed during their addresses.

The resolutions are adopted diametrically opposite of the president with the clause, "We indorse such efforts as President Taft and his advisers have made to fulfill the promises of the national platform."

Dolliver and Cummins Commanded.

They reaffirm their loyalty to the platform of 1908 but do not recognize the revision of 1909 as a satisfactory fulfillment of the party promise and therefore favor the creation of an independent non-partisan tariff committee to secure facts regarding imports and urge revision of schedules separately. They command Senators Dolliver and Cummins for "their work upon the tariff bill, the railroad bill and the postal savings bill." They commend the action of the house in revising the rules. They indorse the antitrust law and recommend it be given additional strength to meet the devices of modern industry. They favor the fixing of a physical valuation on railroads in order to secure effective control of rates and a complete system of accounting. They favor amendments to the postal savings law to keep the money deposited with the government within the communities where deposited. They favor conservation of natural resources. They indorse the primary law. They promise there would be no backward steps along prohibition lines in town. They demand election of United States senator by direct vote of the people. They insist on a readjustment of the representation of Republicans in national convention. They favor an income tax and favor co-operation of the national government in enlarging the usefulness of the system of public education.

State Officers Named.

Under the primary law, the nominations for state officers were made at the primaries in June excepting for supreme judges and superintendent of public instruction. In the latter office there not being a majority vote, Judge Evans of Fort Dodge and Judge H. M. Deemer of Red Oak were nominated for the supreme bench. A. M. Deyoe of Garner was nominated for the office of superintendent of public instruction.

The new state committee is composed of six insurgents and five stalwarts and C. F. Franke of Parkersburg will be continued state chairman.

Falls to Mention Taft.

Senator Cummins, as temporary chairman, threw the convention into disorder when he named the party of "Lincoln, of Grant, or Roosevelt," ignoring President Taft.

Former Congressman Lacey, a standpatter, walked into the center aisle crying "Taft, Taft, Taft," in which he was joined by his fellow-stalwarts.

Senator Cummins was very emphatic in his declaration that the tariff bill as it stood needed considerable revision to make it right. He also warned the country against going too fast on the central-bank idea, and said that wealth was demanding too much toll already.

Party Must Choose Its Course.

Senator Cummins was cheered repeatedly by the progressives, the stalwarts generally remaining silent unless to interrupt him. He referred to "hopeless and retreating reactionaries" and declared that the Republican party must speedily become all progressive, or all standpatters. He declared it would be easier to make the Republican party all progressive than secure proper legislation from a Democratic administration. He averred that Payne, Aldrich, Dallzell and other so-called regulars are no more in favor of the principle of protection than are the progressives.

The Republican party, he said, was not formed to make men rich, but to make them free.

He characterized those responsible for certain legislation, especially the tariff bill, as thinking "more of swelling the overgrown fortunes of their intimate friends than they did of party pledges or the welfare of the people."

Dolliver is Blasted.

When the insurgents presented the name of Jonathan P. Dolliver for permanent chairman, the stalwarts offered opposition in J. C. Mabry of Albion. Dolliver was named by a vote of 834 to 543 which gave the first indication of the relative strength of insurgents and stalwarts in the convention. In accepting his position he said: "I have but one ambition left—to keep myself on the firing-line for public rights against private interests. And as my sympathies are with the man who seems to have suffered at the hands of the roll call." Hero Senator Dolliver was blessed.

"TEDDY" ENDS MINING TOUR

COL. ROOSEVELT SPENDS AN-OTHER DAY AMONG COAL MINERS.

VISITS 15 TOWNS IN AUTO

Rides 150 Miles With John Mitchell and Two Priests—Shows Great Delight When He Meets and Greets Wage Earners.

Willesbarre, Pa., Aug. 4.—Heralded throughout the day as the next president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt made a triumphant tour through the mining towns and hamlets of the Wyoming Valley. "It has been one of the most enjoyable days of my life," Colonel Roosevelt said, "and I certainly have been well repaid for coming here. I have enjoyed every minute of my time."

With the colonel went John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers, Father J. J. Curran, a Wilkesbarre Catholic priest, with whom he had been staying, and another Catholic clergyman. While Mr. Roosevelt gave the spectacular aspect to the trip, Mitchell, trying to keep in the background was hailed by the miners with deep, sincere affection. The miners love Mitchell for what he has done to improve their condition in life and they did all they could today to show their appreciation.

Roosevelt Greeted by Children.

A feature of the trip was the accumulation of children who were brought, up to Colonel Roosevelt at stops he made at various huts. There were lots, of all sizes, most of them with dirty faces, and the ex-president gave each one a candy.

As the ex-president was whirled along from one hamlet to another he was recognized everywhere. Some of the miners' hats displayed American flags. Both Roosevelt and Mitchell were roundly cheered. Mr. Roosevelt returned to New York early today.

Hats Smiles for All.

Colonel Roosevelt traveled 150 miles through 15 of the mining towns. He mingled with people of all stations of life, from the breaker boys, who earn a few dollars a week, to the society women who are spending the summer at Glen Summit springs, an aristocratic resort above Wilkesbarre.

The colonel had the same smile for them all, but he made no secret of the fact that his chief delight was in meeting the wage earners who spend their working hours far under the ground. The miners were not embarrassed in his presence, and this pleased him most of all. They treated him as if he had worked side by side with them for years.

With them for years.
